

Christian Schlatter hands over CTO position to Andreas Meier

Andreas Meier takes over the position as CTO on November 1, 2018, including the management of the development department of Dataphone AG. Christian Schlatter hands over his activities and tasks to Andreas Meier, a long-term Dataphone employee in order to dedicate himself to a new challenge in his former IT environment.

Andreas Meier holds an M. Sc. in Nanosciences (University of Basel and Brown University USA) with a focus on physics, is a trained computer scientist and brings along various further education in leadership, project management and business administration. He is a former team leader of a software development team at Dataphone and is well versed in industry- and subject-specific challenges in the fields of supply chain management. From 2012 to 2018, he played a key role in setting up and expanding the international development department and building up the support team. His sound knowledge in software engineering, lean & digital leadership and his passion for the development of new customer-centred products guarantee the competent future development of Dataphone AG's software solutions.

We welcome Andreas Meier to this new position at Dataphone AG and wish him a successful start.
