Dataphone - Supplier for Vocollect Pick-by-Voice

Since March 1th, 2019 Dataphone Group is official Total Solution Provider for Vocollect software and hardware solutions. As a result, we are delighted to be able to offer our customers a high-tech solution for order picking.

Warehouse management with voice for more speed

Voice interfaces enable a strong increase in speed as well as time savings in the warehouse and are among the Top Tech recommendations for action in 2019. Through its partnership with Honeywell, Dataphone offers a complete portfolio of warehousing and trading solutions along with intelligent voice interfaces. This enables Dataphone customers worldwide to digitize and automate their warehousing and ordering processes.

With consumers demanding faster and more accurate deliveries and the global environment seeking ways to reduce costs, companies with large distribution centers are increasingly relying on voice-based, networked picking systems and warehouse automation. Not only do automated systems supply end-customers faster, it also increases sales and represents a competitive advantage (e.g. Amazon).

Dataphone offers SMEs and large companies automatic storage software, pick-by-voice systems, iOS and Android apps, mobile scanners and network technology from a single source. 30 years of know-how and over 95 experts with many years of experience in the development and integration of software and hardware solutions worldwide are working. Thanks to a broad network and numerous partnerships, Dataphone implements innovative supply chain solutions quickly and flexibly.
